

Fig. S2. Lesion location varies by gender. Percentages are based on lesion location of male and female patients that reported active lesion at the time of survey. Male registry participants had predominantly cutaneous involvement while females had predominantly mucosal involvement ($p < 0.001, \Lambda = 0.055$). Two patients were omitted from the analysis due to conflicting data.