

Fig. S1. (a) Histological examination of a skin biopsy revealed hyperkeratosis, elongation of the rete ridges with epidermal hyperplasia (haematoxylin and eosin (HE), original magnification $\times 4$). (b) Neutrophilic infiltration is visible below the stratum corneum (HE, $\times 40$).