

Editorial

Pediatric Dermatology Highlights in the Forum for Nordic Dermato-Venereology

In this number of the Forum for Nordic Dermato-Venereology a series of pediatric dermatology cases are launched. Dr. Carsten Sand of Bispebjerg Hospital, Copenhagen, generously offered to publish 1-2 illustrative cases in the coming numbers of our journal. When we have collected a comprehensive material these cases will be collected, edited and reprinted in a number of Forum dedicated to this purpose.

We see many patients with atopic dermatitis, and this disease in itself has many faces and therapeutic challenges. Uncommon pediatric conditions are often more difficult to treat simply because we may not be familiar with the condition, the spectrum of manifestations and the course of the disease. It is the hope that the series of pediatric dermatology highlights will help this situation.

Thank you very much to Dr. Carsten Sand for sharing his experiences with us.

Jørgen Serup
Chief editor