General information

The Icelandic Society of Dermato-Venereology was founded 1966 in Reykjavík. At present the Society has 19 members.

Goals

The primary goals of the board this period are:

- Concerns everything regarding our continuing education.
- Inter-disciplinary co-operation
- Clinical guidelines
- Quality registration projects i.e. psoriasis registry.

The main future goal is:

- Stimulating research and public relation.

The most important for the members of our society at present is a forum for continuing education and collegial encouragement in every day practice as most of the Icelandic dermatologists are clinical private practitioners more or less working solitary or in small groups and our status in the central healthcare system is relatively weak as dermatologist hold very few official clinical or academic positions.
