

17th European Congress of Psychodermatology
Brest, France
21-23 June 2017

17th European Congress of Psychodermatology

Brest 21-23 juin 2017

<http://www.univ-brest.fr/esdap2017>

From biological research to psychodermatological applications

Matthieu Talagas (Brest, France): Neuro-cutaneous synapses

Silla Consoli (Paris, France): From somatoform disorders to DSM-5 somatic symptom and related disorder

Dmitry Romanov (Moscow, Russia): Hypochondriasis circumscripta and related artificial disorders in dermatology

Andrea Evers (Leiden, Netherlands) : Placebo and nocebo effects

Ladan Mostaghimi (Madison, USA) : Skin and sleep disorders

Sébastien Barbarot (Nantes, France): Therapeutic education

Christina Schut (Giessen, Germany/Philadelphia, USA): Psychological interventions and itch

Gudrun Schneider (Münster, Germany): Psychosomatic aspects of itch

Laurent Misery (Brest, France): Psychogenic itch

Andrey Lvov (Moscow, Russia): Psychiatric equivalents of itch

Anthony Bewley (London, UK): From delusional infestation to olfactory reference syndrome

Olivier Revol (Lyon, France): Treating the Y and Z generations, a challenge for 21th century physicians

Anna Zalewska (Lodz, Poland): Psychodermatological consultations in practice

Nicole Basset-Seguín (Paris, France): Psychological consequences of surgical treatment of skin cancers

Gaëlle Quereux (Nantes) : Coping strategies in melanoma

Carle Paul (Toulouse, France): Psoriasis and alexithymia

Lucia Tomas Aragones (Zaragoza, Spain): Symposium of the Spanish Group

Communications and posters