Forum for Nordic Dermato-Venereology and Acta Dermato-Venereologica – collaboration partners

From the start, Forum for Nordic Dermato-Venereology has shared both publisher and Editorial Office with Acta Dermato-Venereologica. However, the Editorial Board and Editors are different, and a change will soon occur regarding the Editor-in-Chief of Acta Dermato-Venereologica. Professor Anders Vahlquist has had this position since 1999 (soon 19 years!) and brilliantly guided the journal through many major developments: e.g. open access, a doubling of the impact factor, changed outfit with a new design of both cover and pdfs, changed appearance of the website, and burying the paper version of the journal, to mention a few. He will certainly be missed, especially by the Editorial Office staff (Editorial Assistant Anna-Maria Andersson and myself) for all our joyful discussions, his kindness, and great enthusiasm. I am sure that the authors will miss his brilliance with suggesting editing of text, making it easier to grasp and more distinctive. He will end his period as of 31 December 2017 and will be succeeded by Professor Artur Schmidtchen, Lund. We warmly welcome Artur and are confident that he will continue the excellent development of ActaDV!

This issue is also filled with many other interesting papers: An educational review on Erosive pustular dermatosis of the scalp, a paper on Babiosis, a few dissertation abstracts, and some other reports. You can also find an updated information on the boards of the Nordic Societies.

Please enjoy!
