

Fig. S3. Delay in diagnosis separated by gender in patients with pemphigus vulgaris. Percentages are based on the delay in diagnosis (<3 months, 3-6 months, 6-12 months and >12 months) in male or female patients. Male patients are more likely to be diagnosed sooner than female patients ($p < 0.001$, $\Lambda = 0.043$).